We have successfully ranked everything from fishing guide sites, all the way to Fortune 100 corporations with deadly accuracy. Our scientific approach to SEO is unique in the industry. SEO is not a “feel” it is about precision. It is very targeted, like a scalpel not a sledge hammer. We use our proprietary tool set, that we developed, to analyze what it takes to win. When you work with LinkHelpers, you engage a team of over 40 seasoned professionals. Each member has his or her area of expertise. From precision and compelling content, statistically distributed popularity metrics, breathtaking web design, link and citation subject matter experts we deliver the results you need to succeed in the current competitive market. We will toil tirelessly so you can focus on your business and leave the results to us. It is our belief that it is in our best benefit to ensure your success. And to that end, we will study the market and provide you with the precise metrics it takes to finesse your way to the top. Brute force SEO, Shotgun SEO, does not work. You don’t go into a dark barn and blast away hoping to only hit the rats. It is impossible to have a “feel.” We believe in hard cold numbers. Precision SEO requires a full understanding of the playing field, the odds and the exact requirements to win. We like to win. If you are reading this, you found us because we won. And we can help you win as well.
